INTERNATIONAL PRIZA SUSTAINABLE ARCHITECTURE Built Projects Section - 13th Edition - 2019 Competition

On the 26th of June 2019, the award ceremony for the International Sustainable Architecture Award, now in its thirteenth edition, will take place in Ferrara, in which 101 projects took part from over 25 countries. The event conceived and promoted in 2003 by the Department of Architecture of the University of Ferrara and by the Fassa company on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of its foundation, stems from the desire to reward and make known to a wide audience architectures that know how to relate in a balanced manner with the environment, which are designed for human needs and are capable of satisfying the needs of our generations without limiting, with the indiscriminate consumption of resources and the pollution produced, those of future generations.

The initiative alternates annually a section reserved for graduation, master's and doctoral theses, and another one dedicated instead (like this year) to works created by professionals. The panorama of the projects that took part in the selections has extended to four continents, coming to host contributions from Italy as well as from several European and non-European countries, including China, Japan, Thailand, India, USA and Mexico.

The commission, chaired by Arch. Thomas Herzog, met at the University Architecture Department and was composed of the french arch. Anne Lacaton, the chinese architect Xu Tiantian, the arch. Theo Zaffagnini and the arch. Nicola Marzot.

The jury decided to assign the following awards:
